

LOCAL BOARD HAS COMPLETED WORK

Members Will be Relieved of Further Responsibility Thursday by Order of Crowder.

PASSING OF WAR MACHINERY

State Conscription Office Will be Permanent Closed March 31—Final Records Made.

The Jackson county conscription board will officially pass out of existence Thursday. Provost Marshal Crowder has issued an order declaring that all local boards will be closed March 20. Major Robert Baltzell, state conscription officer, said that his office will be closed March 31. The disbanding of the local boards is another step in the tearing down of the wonderful conscription machinery which was built so rapidly a few months ago when the whole country was enveloped in the clouds of a world war.

The members of the local board have been expecting officials to come here and check them out so that a final report could be made. However, all records have been completed and there has been no official work of any kind to perform for several days. Until the office is officially closed someone must remain in charge of the files and records.

Many reports have been compiled by the local board since the armistice was signed. The names of all Jackson county men who were included in the draft have been arranged according to their serial number and also in alphabetical order and duplicates made of the several lists. One list is sent to the provost marshal general and the other is on file in the office of the state conscription officer.

It is expected that the Jackson county board will be checked out in a few days. Although the office will be officially closed Thursday by Crowder's order the room can not be given up entirely until the board is given proper receipt for all the files and other material on hand. The board has disposed of some of its equipment.

ODD FELLOWS PLAN ONE HUNDREDTH ANNIVERSARY

Seven Candidates Given Work by Local Lodge—Plans for Coming Year.

Seymour lodge No. 204, I. O. O. F., initiated seven candidates Tuesday night, 1918 was the 100th anniversary of the Odd Fellows lodge in the United States and all effort is being made to increase the membership in the lodge here. Celebration of the anniversary was postponed until 1919 but now plans for celebration are under way and it is thought that the date set will come sometime in the first part of April.

The first American Odd Fellows lodge was organized in 1818 at Baltimore, Md. The organization was started in England much earlier than that. Each separate lodge will hold its own celebration but will be governed as to the date by the decision of the general council of the prominent lodge men throughout the nation.

SUPPLY OF VICTORY STAMPS RECEIVED BY POST OFFICE

Printed in Purple and Are Designed to Advertise the New Liberty Loan.

The postoffice has on hand a supply of Victory stamps that have been made to take the place of the three cent stamp now in general use. The stamps may be had by calling at the postoffice but unless asked for will not be sold because of the present stock of regular stamps. The demand for the three cent stamp will come more into prominence after July 1.

The new stamp is printed in purple ink with the imprint running lengthwise. The Victory stamp is the same size of the regular postage stamp but looks smaller because of the odd shape. The picture on the stamps embraces a fore ground of the five allied flags and Liberty Victorious bearing a sword in one hand and a pair of scales in the other.

CENSUS OF VOTERS MAY NOT BE TAKEN

Trustees Are Not Entitled to Extra Compensation for Making Sexennial Enumeration.

NO COUNTY APPROPRIATION

Court Order Will Probably Be Necessary Now to Make Fund Available for This Work.

The useless and unnecessary enumeration of voters which is taken every six years under an old Indiana law may not be made in Jackson county this year, unless the matter reaches the point where the township trustees feel that the census is mandatory and bring action in circuit court to compel the county council to appropriate money for the work. An unusual situation has developed here in regard to the enumeration and nobody apparently knows just what action will be taken. The public, it seems, is agreed that the count is not necessary and the only question involved is whether or not the law specifically requires it to be made.

Heretofore the county council has always appropriated money to defray the expenses of the enumeration but at the last meeting of the council no such fund was made available. The law requires that the trustees shall supervise the count and specifies that they shall be paid a certain sum for the work in addition to their regular compensation. But in 1917 another law was passed which states in so many words that township trustees shall not receive any other pay except that which is provided as a salary in the law. The enumeration law and the trustee's salary act, therefore, are in conflict in this respect. The enumeration law also provides

SIX GIRLS FALL INTO FIVE FEET OF WATER IN DITCH

Tried to Cross Small Canal Over a Small Board and the Timber Gave Away.

The first report of "walking the plank" since the days when piracy drew a free rein upon the high seas comes from Cortland concerning six high school girls. Misses Marie Weekly, Catherine Carnine, Della and Mary Tinder, Grace Bennett and Mildred Bortorff. Yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock the lure of turbulent waters in White River drew these six young girls to the water's edge near the Bell Ford bridge. The surrounding land was under several inches of water but the eager excitement seekers worked their way to one of the deep ditches between the gravel road and the railroad. There they were stopped until by lucky thought a plank was placed over the ditch.

Instead of crossing it one at a time they all walked the plank together. There was a sudden cracking of timbers and six girls disappeared beneath five feet of water. The splashing and their cries for help were heard by Kenneth, Harold and William Abel, Ray Walker and John Frank who had driven to the river in a truck. The young men assisted the girls out of the water and took them to Cortland on the truck.

SCHOOL COUNT TO BE MADE SHORTLY

Census to Include All Children Between the Ages of Six and Twenty-one Years.

ENUMERATION IS IMPORTANT

Names of All Soldiers and Sailors in Jackson County Will Be Listed at Same Time.

The annual enumeration of persons of school age will be taken next month and because of the importance of an accurate count school authorities are hoping that every person between the ages of six and twenty-one years will be listed. It is upon this enumeration that the funds are distributed for the maintenance of school work and the oversight of every person of school age means a direct loss to the county. The school enumeration, it is emphasized, does not mean the listing of children who are in school, but of all who are of school age which the law fixes as between six and twenty-one years.

The enumeration is made under the supervision of the township trustees, but this year it is considered a part of their regular duties and they will not receive extra compensation for the work. Heretofore they have been given an additional allowance. The state board of accounts has ruled that the new salary law of 1917 precludes them from any extra allowances.

The school enumeration may be started on April 1, but must be completed by April 15.

BEGINS SENTENCE IN INDIANA STATE PRISON

William Blythe Taken to Michigan City to Begin Term of From One to Seven Years.

William Blythe, sentenced in circuit court by Judge Cox to serve from one to seven years in the state penitentiary on a charge of neglecting to support his family, was taken to Michigan City this morning by Sheriff H. L. McCord.

Blythe has seven or eight children, some of whom are at the county farm. He was charged nearly eighteen months ago with failure to support his family but no definite action was taken in the matter as he promised to work faithfully for their support. His wife died recently leaving the children to his care. When sentenced Saturday he is said to have told the judge that he had two offers of work but his former reputation was decidedly against him.

Died in Indianapolis.

Miss Effie Ray died at the Methodist Hospital, Indianapolis, this morning. The remains will be brought to this city this afternoon and taken to Voss' Chapel where the funeral will be conducted at 2 o'clock on Thursday afternoon. Burial at Riverview cemetery.

FORMER DUDLEYTOWN MINISTER DIES HERE

The Rev. Herman Diemer, Aged Sixty-Seven, Passes Away at Home in Seymour.

The Rev. Herman Diemer, former pastor of the Lutheran church at Dudleytown, died at 5 o'clock this morning at his home on West Laurel street. He was sixty-seven years old last October. He had been in failing health for the last three years.

The deceased was born on October 26, 1851, at Wittenberg, Germany. Soon afterwards his father came to America to establish a home for his family. When Mr. Diemer was about two years old his mother and the four children started to this country to join the father. When they were within two days journey of this country Mrs. Diemer died. She was buried in this country and the father and four children went to New Orleans, La., where he died five weeks later of yellow fever.

Mr. Diemer was taken by some people who resided at Perryco, Mo. An old pastor who lived at that place acted as instructor to him, and noticing he was a very intelligent pupil, was instrumental in sending him to college to have him educated for the ministry. He studied at Concordia College, Fort Wayne, and at the Theological Seminary at St. Louis, Mo., completing his course about 1873. His first pastorate was at Elkhart, Ind. Other pastorates were at Archbold, Ohio, Pomeroy, Ohio, Peru and Defiance, Ohio. His last charge was Dudleytown, where he was forced to give up his work last spring on account of ill health. He then moved to this city, locating on West Laurel street.

The Rev. Mr. Diemer is survived by a widow, three sons, and one daughter, Miss Emma. He also leaves two sisters, one at Oakland, Calif., and the other in Nebraska.

The funeral services will be conducted Saturday at 1 o'clock at the residence, and 1:30 at the Lutheran church. The services at the church will be in charge of Rev. F. W. Pohlman, of Sauer's church, at the request of Rev. Diemer, they were intimate friends.

AIM IS TO BRING WAR PRICES DOWN

War Industries Board Holds Conference With Iron and Steel Men.

NEW SCHEDULE EXPECTED

Tables Show Steel and Iron Average 120 Percent Higher Than In 1914.

By United Press
Washington, March 19.—With the aim of bringing down war prices, the government today began a series of conferences with the various industries. Today's conference is with the industrial board and the steel men, headed by Judge Gary and Charles Schwab. The expected result is a new schedule for steel and iron prices much lower than the present price and probably somewhat above the pre-war figures. Tables of the board show that steel and iron average about 120 percent higher than in 1914.

She called especial attention to the fact that the women of the state had secured the passage in the legislature of a resolution favoring suffrage and the new Beardsley amendment to the state constitution. She also gave statistics which show that in twenty-four states the women vote in presidential elections and of these, in seventeen, including Alaska, women vote on all elections.

Mrs. D. A. Kochenour of Brownstown, district president, spoke, emphasizing the importance of the district convention to be held at North Vernon the second week in April. Mrs. Richard Edwards, the retiring state president, will speak at this convention.

Officers were to be elected late in the afternoon.

SUPREME COUNCIL SPEEDING UP WORK

Expected to Formally Ratify Territorial and Financial Agreements Today.

INDEMNITY NOT DETERMINED

Experts Think Amount Should Be Based Upon Germany's Ability to Pay.

By United Press
Paris, March 19.—The supreme war council was expected to ratify formally today the tentative agreement understood to have been reached yesterday on territorial and financial question of the preliminary peace treaty.

The plan of alternating formal meetings between the leaders and sessions of the supreme war council was adopted Sunday as part of the speeding up process. The question of both the western and eastern frontiers of Germany was said to have been thoroughly discussed.

John Davis representing the United States on the reparation committee, and representatives of France and Great Britain were called for discussion of the financial conditions of the treaty. The big powers, it was learned today, are now in practical agreement in regard to the plan in working out financial affairs, namely that the financial bill for reparation must be based upon what experts find Germany will be able to pay over a comparatively short period of years. With the government heads already agreed upon this basis of fixing the definite amount of indemnity appeared to be a matter of only a few days.

Meanwhile work is also being pushed on the league of nations covenant which will be incorporated in the pact. A pact was sent to all neutrals yesterday to have their recommendations for changes and amendments.

SCHOOL COUNT TO

BE MADE SHORTLY

pleted by the last day of April. The trustees are permitted to employ assistants to help them make the county and these assistants are paid from the special school fund for which every township has a special levy.

The manner in which the census takers will be paid is not yet definitely determined. One ruling of the state board of accounts states that the trustees should employ them by the day or should give them an agreed amount for each person listed. If the latter plan of compensation is accepted, the board suggests that the rate be from seven to eight cents. It is stated that in some places the enumerators might be employed at five cents per head but that the price should not exceed ten cents per head, depending upon the locality.

Another interesting feature of the enumeration this year will be that the census takers will list all soldiers and sailors. The instructors state that the men who served in the world war should be included as well as the veterans of the Civil War and the Spanish-American war. This enumeration will furnish the public with the first complete list of local men who participated in the world conflict, and as each house is to be visited it is expected that the report will be as nearly accurate as is possible to obtain. The names of the fighting forces will be used to an advantage by the Jackson County Historical Society which is planning a summary of Jackson County's part in the world war. It is the intention of the Society to include in this booklet the names of all soldiers and sailors.

An interesting meeting will be held next Sunday evening at the Methodist church, Brownstown, when the Woman's Missionary Society will celebrate its fiftieth anniversary. An address will be given by the pastor, Rev. R. I. Black, which will be followed by a tableau by ten or twelve of the young people of the church.

JOE BURTON IN U. S.

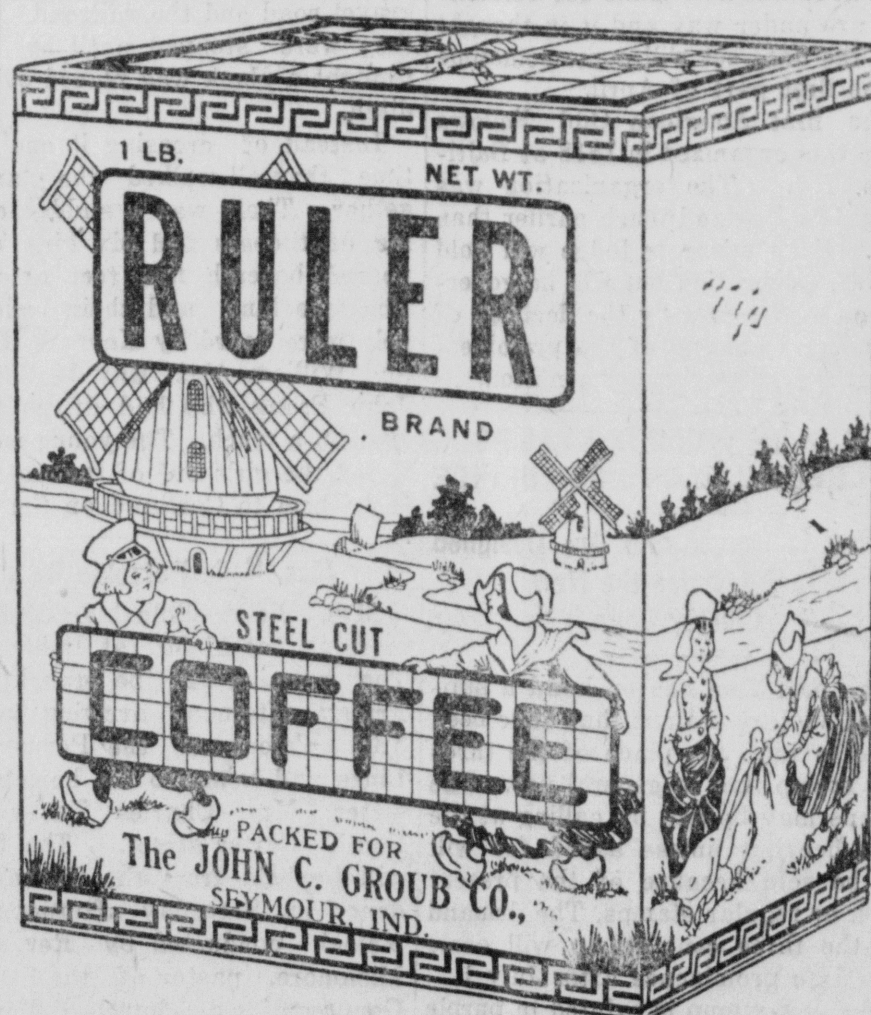

Member of 279 Aero Squadron at Camp Stuart, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pauley have received word that their son, Sergt. Joe Burton, has arrived at Camp Stuart, Va., from overseas and will leave shortly for another camp near home for discharge. Sergt. Burton enlisted as an aeroplane mechanic January 1, 1918, at Indianapolis and was sent to Columbus, O., for final examination prior to leaving for Camp Hancock, Ga., for training. On July 17 he sent word to his parents here that he was stationed at Gerstner Fields, Lake Charles, La., and that he had been promoted to a sergeant. At that time men in his outfit were being qualified for overseas service and Burton expressed his belief that he would get to "go over" soon. August 20 came the message from "Somewhere in France" stating that he had arrived safely and would soon be up near the fighting lines.

Sergt. Burton was a member of the 279 Aero Squadron and for some time while yet in camp in the United States acted as instructor to groups of less experienced mechanics.

NOTICE THE REASON FOR THIS REMARKABLE SALE

You all know P. Colabunono. He has been in the shoe business in Seymour for the past eleven years and has established a reputation that is known far and near of handling only the most reliable brands of footwear at the most reasonable prices, and in order to maintain this reputation, when the big advance in prices on the shoe market was forewarned, he placed large future orders with many of the manufacturers of the same high grade lines of shoes he had handled in each department for years, and thousands of pairs of these goods are now piled high on the shelves in the store and in the reserve stock room in the basement and thousands more are ready to leave the factories, and he is very heavily overstocked and some extraordinary action being necessary, the entire stock was placed in the hands of this Cleveland Company of merchandise brokers with authority to place it on sale without reserve at any prices that in their judgment will positively reduce it one-half in ten days to make room and raise cash quick.

FARMS FOR SOLDIERS PLANNED BY STATES

Northwestern Section of Country to Make Inducements to Returning Fighters.

By United Press.

St. Paul, Minn., March 19.—Farms for returning sailors and soldiers in the Central Northwest are largely waiting on Congress. In the absence of any unified plan to utilize the vast amount of unfilled land in the nation, the state legislatures in this section have been trying to formulate limited schemes for land utilization.

The states are waiting to see what the federal government will do—but northwest state legislatures will have adjourned until 1921 before congress can act.

Minnesota has taken the first step toward land settlement in consideration of Senator Leonard J. Nord's bill to create a state colonization commission, with power to license and govern colonization companies.

The only plan of settlement now in effective operation is a private enterprise headed by Benjamin F. Faast, of Eau Claire, Wis., who is a director of the St. Paul Federal Land Bank. Faast has been colonizing northern Wisconsin successfully for eighteen years and is the first churches, stores, schools and community centers already provided. The "Minnesota Plan," of which Senator Nord is the author is based upon the system worked by Faast, but also embodying a plan outlined by E. G. Quamme, president of the St. Paul Federal Land Bank, that for the first time would permit colonizing, not only "back woods" country, but the already settled communities of southern Minnesota.

The Nord bill would eliminate "land autocracy," which often has resulted in stagnation of high grade producing land by its lying idle or producing only a small percentage of capacity. It would enable the man of moderate means to pick his farm anywhere in the state and have a colonization company purchase and improve it for him. Under the plan of payment, his expenses would be small the first four or five years and he would have 35 years or more to pay for the farm. The colonization companies being licensed by the state, would be under strict regulation. State appraisers would report on the land, assuring the farmer of its condition. The colonization company could issue bonds up to within 75 per cent of the value of the land and these bonds would be endorsed by the state.

Bills similar to the Nord bill in Minnesota have been introduced in the Wisconsin and Michigan legislatures.

The home builders' bill is the only settlement plan now before the North Dakota solons and provides that upon deposit of 20 per cent of the value of the project, a man may engage in farm industry, fully equipped, under contract to pay up within twenty years.

Many plans have been discussed in South Dakota and bills following the plan outlined to President Wilson by Secretary of the Interior Lane are under consideration in almost every northwestern state legislature. Action on these bills in several states has been prevented because of conflicting constitutional provisions. Rectification of constitutional deficiencies to adopt the Lane plan would require two years.

But the land is available. Millions of acres of cutover and swamp land available for tillage or stock raising in Minnesota, Michigan and Wisconsin are awaiting development. Secretary of the Interior Franklin K. Lane's recent survey showed Minnesota has 14,022,000 acres of stump land available for colonization and 5,832,308 acres of swamp land. Wisconsin is second in the United States in stump land, with 13,246,000 acres. The Badger state has 2,360,000 acres of swamp land available. Michigan has 11,686,000 acres of stump and 2,947,439 acres of swamp land available, while in the United States there is a total of 228,509,000 acres of stump land and 79,005,022 acres of swamp land waiting to be developed.

It'll Be A Big Year In Backyard Gardens

Many thousands of home gardeners who went "over the top soil" last year in the production of vegetables for home tables are already planning and planting to beat their own records the coming season, according to reports to the United States Department of Agriculture.

So far as can be ascertained, the demand for food will be as great in 1919 as last year, and it will be necessary for everyone to do his part in production or conservation, or both, if possible. The demand for garden land in and around large cities is greater than last year, reports indicate. Nearly all the old gardeners are lined up for 1919, and thousands of new ones are joining the ranks every day.

Millions of Americans have been shown that a very small piece of land will produce enough fresh vegetables for the ordinary family if properly cultivated. Few people realized, until they tried the experiment, how many good things to eat could be grown in a city back yard or on a vacant lot. In seven cities of Indiana last year there were over 129,000 home gardens, with an estimated value of $1,550,000. In six Ohio cities having a total population of 1,640,000 there were counted 102,875 gardens having a valuation of $1,922,475.

The appeal made by Uncle Sam last year for more and better home gardens met with a hearty response from every State in the Union. No exact figures as to their number or aggregate contribution to the country's food supply are obtainable, but Department officials believe the results fully justified all the efforts put forth for them by the Government, the individual gardeners, and the local associations working in many cities and towns.

No doubt is seen that the city home garden has come to stay. City people have learned how good and fresh vegetables can be when they come right from their own backyard gardens. They have also learned that a garden helps to get rid of that jaded feeling that follows a hard day in the store or office. It has been shown that the home vegetable garden is something that the whole family can get interested in and help to care for. The schools are teaching the principles of gardening, and the boys and the girls by this method are getting acquainted with Mother Nature and learning the value of efforts put forth intelligently and systematically.

There were some failures last year. But their number was small when the number of home gardens is considered. A fact of large importance is that in cities having twenty to thirty thousand gardens less than 1 per cent of failure to complete the season's work was reported.

Department specialists emphasize that production of vegetables in back yards and on vacant city lots is not a fad, but a substantial economic movement. Thousands of people have become permanent producers and are adding materially to the creative forces of the United States.

The essentials for a good garden are a little land, plenty of sunshine, a few seeds, some tools and an abundance of enthusiasm and work. Given these, all other difficulties can easily be overcome. At least one million families last year attempted gardening for the first time, and the greater part of them succeeded.

There is always something of interest in the garden from the turning of the first spadeful of earth to the gathering of the crops. There are difficulties to be overcome, but to the true home gardener a few potato bugs or some weeds merely are the obstacles to be met in any striving for good things. In some cities last year prizes were offered for the best gardens, but in many instances the winners never claimed them, for they considered the garden and its products their greatest prize.

The United States Department of Agriculture is ready to give tested advice to both experienced and amateur gardeners. A postal card request to the Department will bring free its bulletins on this subject, written by Government specialists to embody the results of many years of investigation in such form that they will be readily understood.

RENEWED TESTIMONY

No one in Seymour who suffers backache, headaches, or distressing urinary ills can afford to ignore this Seymour man's twice-told story. It is confirmed testimony that no Seymour resident can doubt.

Louis Scheurich, 317 W. Oak St., says: "I suffered from pain across the small of my back, accompanied by weakness, which affected me so badly I could hardly get about. A friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I did. They cured the attack."

MORE THAN FIVE YEARS LATER, Mr. Scheurich said: "Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of kidney complaint. I take a box of Doan's occasionally, however and they keep my kidneys in good condition."

that when necessary the trustees may employ assistants to take the count which is to be completed between the first day of January and the first day of July.

The state board of accounts has ruled that the trustees shall not collect additional pay for the enumeration. The ruling was given on a request which was sent up from Henry county where a situation similar to the one here exists. The ruling of the state board was backed up by the attorney general. The trustees, of course, are not anxious to take on additional work without a promise of compensation for the extra labor and it appears that there is no extra money in sight for them.

The county council by failing to make an appropriation for this work, throws the responsibility directly upon the trustees. In small townships the trustees could probably take the count during the first six months of the year, but in the larger townships it would be almost impossible for one man to do the work in that time. Without a special fund available the trustees do not like the idea of hiring assistants to do the work when they might be required to pay them out of their own salaries.

The enumeration law was enacted by the legislature in 1865 when a great deal of attention was devoted to population. The law provided that only the white male voting population should be included in the count. The first enumeration under the law was taken in 1866 and the second in 1871. The count has been made every six years since that time. The names and ages of the voters must be recorded, the law provides, and the trustees are then required to arrange the names in alphabetical order in a separate book and file them with the county auditor who must file a summary with the state auditor before September 1 of the year in which the enumeration is made. For ten years only white voters were enumerated but in 1877 the law was amended to include colored voters.

The enumeration is of no value now as the apportionment of congressmen is made according to the vote cast in the preceding election before the apportionment is made. So far as known here the enumeration figures are not used now and become merely public records.

How Long Must I Suffer From the Pangs of Rheumatism?

Is there no real relief in sight?

Doubtless like other sufferers, you have often asked yourself this question, which continues to remain unanswered.

Science has proven that your Rheumatism is caused by a germ in your blood, and the only way to reach it is by a remedy which eliminates and removes these little pain demons from your blood. This explains why liniments and lotions can do no permanent good, for they cannot possibly reach these germs which infest your blood by the millions.

S. S. S. has been successfully used for Rheumatism for more than fifty years. Try it to-day, and you will find yourself at last on the right track to get rid of your Rheumatism. You can get valuable advice about the treatment of your individual case by writing to the Chief Medical Adviser, Swift Specific Co., Dept. D, Atlanta, Ga.

RECORDING OF DISCHARGE PAPERS IS NOT NECESSARY

Adjutant General Smith Says Such Documents Are Recorded in Washington.

Adjutant General Harry B. Smith, Indianapolis, asserts that it is unnecessary for soldiers to have their discharges recorded. He states that no benefit will be gained by doing so for the papers are recorded at Washington. Since the bill urging the free recording of discharges failed to pass the legislature the county recorder will charge the regular fees for making an entry.

The Adjutant General requests that all Indiana soldiers immediately supply him with information concerning their service record so that work on the great roster containing the records of all Hoosiers in the service during the World War may be gotten well under way. It is the purpose of Indiana to keep a permanent official record of all her sons who enlisted or were called to service. It is greatly lamented that no such record was kept of Indiana soldiers in the Civil War. Public sentiment is said to be strongly in sympathy with this movement. To help facilitate matters soldiers may secure from the adjutant's office at Indianapolis information concerning the things required for the state service roster.

Indian Medicine Men.

In the Indian Tribe one finds the "Medicine Man,"—one versed in the healing art of roots, herbs, leaves and barks. In these he discovers emollients, astringents, laxatives and tonics, all of which are prepared and offered to sufferers among the tribe. To such good, old-fashioned roots and herbs Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the most efficient remedy in the world for female ills, owes its success. For forty-five years it has been restoring the women of America to health, until it is now recognized as the standard remedy.

WEAKNESS REMAINS LONG AFTER Influenza

Reports Show That Strength,
Energy and Ambition Return
Very Slowly to Grippe Patients.

After an attack of influenza, doctors advise that nature be assisted in its building-up process by the use of a good tonic—one that will not only put strength and endurance into the body, but will also help to build up and strengthen the run-down cells of the brain.

One of the most highly recommended remedies to put energy into both body and brain is Bio-feren—your physician knows the formula—it is printed below.

There's iron in Bio-feren—the kind of iron that makes red blood corpuscles and creates vigor. There is lecithin also; probably the best brain invigorator known to science. Then there is good old reliable gentian, that brings back your lagging appetite.

There are other ingredients that help to promote good health, as you can see by reading this formula, not forgetting kolo, that great agent that puts the power of endurance into weak people.

Taken altogether Bio-feren is a splendid active tonic that will greatly help any weak, run-down person to regain normal strength, energy, ambition and endurance.

Bio-feren is sold by all reliable druggists and is inexpensive. For weakness after influenza patients are advised to take two tablets after each meal and one at bed time—seven a day, until health, strength and vigor are fully restored.

It will not fail to help you and if for any reason you are dissatisfied with results your druggist is authorized to return your money upon request—without any red tape of any kind.

Note to physicians: There is no secret about the formula of Bio-feren. It is printed on every package. Here it is: Lecithin; Calcium Glycero-phosphate; Iron Peptonate; Manganese Peptonate; Ext. Nux. Vomica; Powdered Gentian; Phenolphthalein; Olearin Capsicum. Kelo.

The River

When the Colorado
Burst Its Banks and Flooded the Imperial Valley of California

By EDNAH AIKEN

(Copyright, Bobbe-Merrill Company.)

From the wings, Babcock's inquisitive glasses were seen to sweep the house. Hardin could catch the summons of an excited forefinger to the group unseen. There was a minute of delay. Then Babcock's nervous toddle carried him onto the stage.

De la Vega followed Babcock. There was a hush of curiosity. The house did not know who he was. Behind him, soldierly, stiff, stalked MacLean. Marshall's entrance released the tongues. There was an interval of confusion on the stage. Babcock, like a restless terrier, was snapping at the heels of the party. At last, they were all fussily seated. De la Vega was given the place of honor. Marshall, Babcock put on his left, MacLean on the right.

Babcock raised his staccato gavel. A hush fell on the house. His words were clipped and sharp.

"You have left your plowing to come here. You are anxious to hear what we have to say to you. You cannot afford to be indifferent to it. You acknowledge, by your presence, a dependence, a correlation which you would like to deny. Irrigation means co-operation, suffering together, struggling together, succeeding together. You prefer the old individual way, each man for himself. I tell you it won't do. You belong in other countries, the countries of old-fashioned rain. You want to hear what we have to say to you, the company who saved the valley, the company you are suing. But you have also suits against Mexico. There is a gentleman here who has a message from Mexico about those suits. I have the honor, gentlemen, to introduce, Señor de la Vega."

"Ladies," bowed the Mexican. "Gentlemen, Mr. Chairman. It is with an appreciation of the honor that I accepted for today the invitation of Mr. Marshall to speak before you, to speak to you; I must tell you first my thought as I sat there and looked at you, the youth, the flower of the American people. A few years ago, we were calling this the great Colorado desert; now, the world calls it the bonanza of America. This theater is built over the bones of gold-seekers, who dared death in this dreaded desert to find what was buried in those mountains beyond. The man, I say, who crossed this desert, took the hazard of death. It was a countryman of mine who piloted, fifteen years ago, a little band of men, across the desert. Perhaps he camped on this very spot. It is not impossible! It is here, perhaps, that he got his inspiration. He saw a wonderful territory; he dreamed to quicken it with the useless waters of the Colorado. You will all agree that it was Gull-termo Estrada who dreamed the dream that has come true; that it was through him that some of your countrymen secured their privilege to reclaim this land. Later, when one of your countrymen found he could not fulfill his promise to you, the promise to deliver water to your ranches, he came to my nation and got permission to cut into the river on our territory. Most gladly did Porfirio Diaz grant that privilege. For that, today, you are suing him. This, I am told, is your complaint."

His abrupt pause betrayed a confused murmur of voices. De la Vega's polite ear tried to differentiate the phrases. There was a jumble of sound. De la Vega looked inquiringly at Babcock, who waved him on.

"It has nothing to do with the history, but I would like to say in passing that so assured were your people of our friendly feeling toward you that they did not wait to receive permission from Mexico to make the cut. Your people were in a hurry. Your crops were in danger. First the lack of water, then too much water damaged your valley. A few acres—"

A voice from the crowd cried out, "A few acres? Thousands of acres." Instantly others were on their feet. "Thousands of acres. Ruin." One man was shouting himself apoplectic.

Babcock's gavel sounded a sharp staccato on the table.

"Thousands of acres," De la Vega was unruffled. "And more than that. The valley, it must be remembered, does not stop at the line. Mexican lands, too, have been scoured by the action, the result of the action of your irrigation company. It was a mutual," he paused, and a quaint word came to his mind. "A mutual bereavement. It did not occur to us to accuse you of our troubles. Your damage suits pained and astonished us. But they gave us also a suggestion."

The rustling and the murmurs suddenly ceased. A prescient hush waited on De la Vega. "You have been advised to sue us. To sue us for giving you that concession. Therefore, the only answer is for us to withdraw that concession! You accuse us, for giving it to you. That concession is valuable. What else can we do? Before your damage suits were filed, we were approached by others for the same privilege. If you do not withdraw your suits, my nation sends word to you that you may not take water from the Colorado river through Mexican soil. You will not be without water probably long; I have said that concession is valuable! Other arrangements will probably be made so that the valley will be given water. I would like to take your answer to my government."

It was several seconds before the house got its breath. The import of the diplomat's words was astounding. Barton got to his feet, yelling with his great bass voice, "Betrayed!" His shrunken finger indicated a youth with "R. S." in black letters on his collar. "The valley has been betrayed."

In the balcony, the uproar was deafening. Around Hardin and Brandon words were thudding like bullets. "Reclamation Service." "That's their game." "The concession!" "They won't get it." "Betrayed. We are betrayed."

Downstairs, Babcock's gavel rapped unheard. Behind the excited figure wielding the stick, sat Marshall, his unreadable, sweet smile on his face. His eyes were on Babcock, who was vainly clamoring for order. "Program that meeting."

Hollister was trying to make himself heard to Barton over two rows of seats, but his voice was like a child's on an ocean beach. Barton was surrounded by eager anxious men. The audience had split into circles of haranguing centers. It was impossible to get attention. Hardin could see Marshall pull Babcock by the tails of his coat. Unwillingly, he could see Babcock allow the crowd five minutes by his consulted watch. Then again, the gavel danced on the table. Marshall was still smiling. Babcock's shrill voice split the din. "Order." The ocean of voices swallowed him again.

"We won't let them in," Grace was bellowing, "the valley won't stand for it."

"Take your medicine," thundered the big organ of Barton. "I warned you, Imperial valley."

"Betrayal," groaned the crowd.

Down in the orchestra, Barton was holding a hasty-up meeting of the water companies. De la Vega had stepped back and was consulting with Tod Marshall.

Babcock pulled out his watch, his gavel calling for attention. This time he was heard.

HAVE COLOR IN CHEEKS

Be Better Looking—Take
Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study with his patients.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects.

They start the bile and overcome constipation. That's why millions of boxes are sold annually at 10c and 25c per box. All druggists. Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results.

Delicate Children Vinol is What They Need

More than eight thousand druggists recommend Vinol because it contains in deliciously palatable form the oldest and most famous reconstructive tonics known to medicine. During the last sixteen years it has brought health and happiness to thousands of puny, ailing, anaemic children.

Middletown, Conn.
"I used Vinol for my little girl five years old for a rundown, nervous condition. She was thin, irritable all the time and had no appetite. In a week I noticed an improvement and now she has a good appetite, has gained in flesh and strength and is much pleasanter."—Mrs. C. B. Wilkinson.

Marville, R.I.
"The whooping cough,—and later the measles left my little boy of eight years with no appetite, thin, frail, delicate and tired all the time. After everything else had failed Vinol gave him a hearty appetite, restored his strength and he is now as well as ever."—Mrs. James H. Hall.

For all run-down, nervous, anaemic conditions, weak women, overworked men, feeble old people and delicate children, there is no remedy like Vinol.

HUNS FEAR NEGROES

Offer Reward for Each Colored Soldier Captured.

With the American Army of Occupation.—Wherever American negroes have appeared in the area occupied by the Americans they have attracted great attention among the civilians.

In Treves, Coblenz and other places, during the early days of the occupation, crowds assembled wherever any negro soldiers stopped in the streets, and it was necessary for the military police to enforce the orders prohibiting gatherings in the public thoroughfares. Even yet in Coblenz and Treves, where there are a number of negro soldiers, the negroes attract crowds of German children every time they appear in the streets.

The German soldier also regards the negro with great curiosity. According to a discharged German soldier in Rengsdorf, the German army, early in the war, offered a reward of 400 marks for the capture alive of each negro. The discharged German soldier said that throughout the war German soldiers lived in great fear, and even terror, of the negroes, and it was in order to overcome this fear that rewards were offered.

One evening on the front a scouting party, consisting of ten Germans, including the discharged soldier, encountered two French negroes. In a fight which followed one of the negroes escaped, the other being taken prisoner. In the fight two of the Germans left their comrades and ran to the protection of their own trenches, but these, it was explained, were young soldiers and untrained. The reward of 400 marks subsequently was divided among the remaining six Germans for capturing the French negro.

FORM CLOTHES TO BE VOGUE

Plump Gentlemen May Need "Stays" to Get Away With Newest in Masculine Adornment.

Atlantic City, N. J.—Form clothes will be the vogue during the present year. So decreed the National Association of Merchant Tailors, which is discussing styles in annual convention here.

All delegates emphasize the form fitting trend of the time. Some of them went so far as to suggest that mature gentlemen of a plump, if not corpulent, tendency will need "stays" to get away with the newest things in masculine adornment.

According to the terms of the trade masculine styles for the ensuing 12 months are to be sprightly without conspicuousness; dashing without verging on extremes; youthful in temperament and inspirational. In place of the inevitable summer flannels of the past men will wear recreational raiment, fashioned of silk, fine linens, and other delicate fabrics. Even the prosaic sack suit of business is to have a "swing" imparted to it by a high waistline and a long vent back.

But it is in sporty toggery that the styles are going to go the limit. Coats will be strapped and tabbed and plaited. Riding coats are to have flaring skirts, a back vent running to the high waistline, diagonal jetted pockets, and upon both sides with an additional outside pocket, neatly flapped, to carry change.

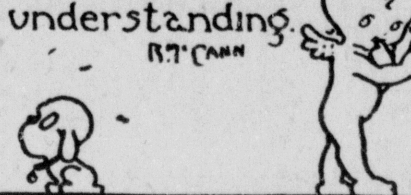

All danger of further flood damage from the present high water was removed today with the continued fall of White River. The lowlands are draining rapidly and some the roads that were flooded are again open to traffic.

G. H. Anderson, who has been ill for several days at his home on North Ewing street, is able to be out in town again.

A large number of local Masons went to Crothersville Tuesday night and witnessed exemplification of the degree work.

RUN THE HOUSEHOLD ON BUDGET SYSTEM

Keep Careful Accounts and Divide Family Income Wisely—Suggestions for Various Salaries.

A budget is absolutely necessary to the wise and well-proportioned running of a household. No budget can be made to fit all families, even families of similar size, locality, etc., but the well-proportioned budget provides a fair financial basis, a starting point from which to begin the work of wisely dividing the family income.

The main thing is to get the budget started, to keep careful accounts—in a way that will permit analysis of expenditures—for at least several months; a year, if possible. Many people keep accounts, personal and household, only in a way that balances cash and shows how it has been generally expended. A budget should do better than that.

An exact budget is difficult to provide at present, with all living prices in a state of flux but with a prevailing upward tendency. Figures differ greatly in various sections of the country, frequently in various sections of the same state. But in strictly industrial centers, it has been authentically computed, food usually consumes about 43 per cent of the ordinary income, shelter 18 per cent, fuel and light 6 per cent, and the various "sundries" so grouped because so difficult of more exact classification, 20 per cent. In the following suggestive budgets for varying incomes the "savings" item has been placed first as most necessary where the family income is not too large and is practically inelastic. This item may include life insurance, savings bank accounts and such investable income-bearing governmental securities absolutely necessary with the kind of incomes noted—as Liberty Bonds and War Savings Stamps.
